

Utah National Bank Trebles Its Capital, Officers Announce

With the arrival this morning of a telegraphic dispatch from the controller of currency in Washington, the Utah National bank of Ogden, is authorized to operate under greatly increased capitalization and places the institution in the ranks as one of the largest and strongest banks in the mountain country. Heretofore the capital has been $150,000 with $50,000 surplus. With the authorization of today the bank has been changed to show the addition of $350,000 of new capital stock and $100,000 surplus, making a total of capital and surplus reaching $600,000.

The increase raises the capital to three times its former amount. The increase represents new sums invested by stockholders with the transfer of some earnings of past years from the undivided profits account to the capital account.

At a stockholders' meeting held last March it was voted to increase the capacity of the institution three-fold and Active Vice-President Warren L. Wattis and Cashier A. V. McIntosh were instructed by the directors to work out a plan and make application for the increase.

Examination of the bank's books was then made by a national bank examiner and upon his recommendation the application was approved. In the meantime, new stockholders were enrolled and the list is representative of all the principal industries of the community.

A second examination by the examiner was completed last Tuesday and it was shown that all new capital had been paid in and the bank's affairs in an exceptionally satisfactory condition.

The officers and directors of the institution are: David C. Eccles, president; Warren L. Wattis, active vice-president; Charles E. Kaiser, vice-president; A. V. McIntosh, cashier; William H. Loom, assistant cashier; William J. Parker, John M. Browning, Joseph Sowercroft and William H. Wattis, directors.

IRISH TO FIGHT FOR THEIR PLANK

Ultimatum to Be Served That Battle on Convention Floor
Will Be Fought

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—A "caucus" of Irish sympathizers among delegates applied to the convention resolutions committee today for five minutes' hearing in which to present argument for an Irish recognition plank. The caucus chairman John J. Fitzgerald of Rhode Island, said it was proposed to serve an ultimatum on the committee that a floor fight would be made for such a plank.

The caucus was held in a hall adjoining the committee room. More than 200 delegates were said to have attended. Through Senator Walsh of Massachusetts a request that Frank P. Walsh Kansas City be heard by the resolutions committee was submitted.

Fitzgerald said a minority report favoring the recognition plank was demanded, to pave the way for carrying the fight to the floor. Should it be refused or the committee refuse to hear Walsh, he said, the course of the Irish sympathizers would be determined at another session of the caucus later in the day. Convention rules do not provide for a floor battle, he insisted.

and West Virginia sent Governor Cornwell to the plank to nominate John W. Davis ambassador to Great Britain.

Davis Is Named
Governor Cornwell told the convention that if the campaign was merely a contest to keep control of the government, the Democratic party would keep some people in political office and to put others into office, then I am ready to quit now.

The public record of Mr. Davis, Governor Cornwell said, assured that if nominated he would not be the candidate of any class, any section or any group.

"You cannot afford in this convention," said he, "to nominate a man merely because he is supposed to be popular with one particular group of people in the country at the sacrifice of leadership. If you do that you make the Democratic party a sectional organization."

The convention construed the governor's remarks as a thrust at the McAdoo boom. At the same time Governor Cornwell by indirect reference lavished the labor agencies of Mr. Davis which has been attacked.

He closed with a reference to the close relations between the president and Mr. Davis, and the close relations of the peace treaty the president had kept Mr. Davis "at his elbow."

Wears Pretty Gown
Miss Julia Brown of West Virginia, seconded the nomination of Mr. Davis. Mrs. Brown was dressed in a white organdie gown with a corsage of roses and looked like a debutante as she stepped out upon the speaker's platform.

Mrs. Brown, who before her marriage was Isabella Jewel, a stock actress in the east, began a story which ran to the effect that while man was asleep in the Garden of Eden the Creator took his brains to create woman. The audience of the property owners asked the opening of the street was submitted several days ago.

Property owners on Quincy avenue between Sullivan road and Thirty-second street, have petitioned the commission for a paving district. The matter was referred to the city engineer for investigation.

Cattleman Loses 50 Head by Poison Plant

The heaviest loser of Nevada cattlemen, due to cattle eating poisonous larkspur last year, is declared in a forest service report, to be S. C. Dunn of the Three Creek district on the Humboldt forest. He lost 50 of the 250 which died during the season throughout that section.

The loss amounted to $50 per head, or about $15,000 altogether. Plans are being made to eradicate the larkspur by digging it up. Another plan which has been proposed is the fencing of larkspur for fall pasture, beef cattle thriving on the average cost throughout that section.

to quit, the last one to throw up the sponge being at Columbus, Ohio.

The commission of ten Pennsylvania counties had planned to build a ten-county workhouse for prisoners. Plans for financing it were about ready before prohibition came. A meeting was held by the commissioners November 29, 1915, and all agreed that there were no prisoners to be put in it, and the joint organization of commissioners was disbanded and the plans dropped.

Warden Lewis, Philadelphia jail, says arrest for drunkenness have decreased 80 per cent in his city. Warden Lee, Baltimore jail, says arrests for all causes has been reduced 50 per cent.

In Connecticut the state farm for drunks has been abandoned.

In Boston the arrests from July to December, 1915, were 28,860 and the same period in 1919 only 8920, reduction of 19,940.

Sheriffs Quit—Can't Make Living. Sheriffs all over the country are resigning because they can no longer make a living feeding prisoners. This made to be the principal source of revenue to a sheriff.

In Houston, Tex., the city farm that formerly had from 50 to 100 prisoners all the time became absolutely depopulated when prohibition hit. The prisoners resented a Japanese.

Many jails over the country are being converted into hotels and departments to solve the housing shortage.

No prohibition hasn't completely prohibited. But it has ruined John Barleycorn's business.

The enforcement bureau here holds to the theory that the higher the price goes, the more successful the law is. At the Chicago convention booze was selling at $7.50 to $15 a pint, demand strong. Buying it by the drink one pays about $75 a quart in New York.

In Wichita Falls, Tex., the oil price reached the maximum price of $29 a half pint. Cash, too.

Uncle Sam lost $500,000,000 in revenue, but made it up in other ways. That is, twice as much as the people saved and spent for more substantial luxuries and necessities.

The cost of enforcing prohibition for the year was $2,000,000.

Let's forget. In western Massachusetts 176 persons died from drinking wood alcohol, and about that many more in New York and New Jersey from the same cause. But the 50,000 saved from alcoholism offsets that.

Squeegie Tread TIRES

FULL OF LIFE

MORE than two million Diamond Tires are in use—now, almost one for every third car in the United States.

The reason that hundreds of thousands of motorists are buying Diamond Tires is because Diamonds are delivering the service.

Small wonder that motorists buy more Diamonds than any other tire not sold to car manufacturers for original equipment.

had been for the treaty without reservations, a year of effort had demonstrated that such a ratification was impossible. In the coming campaign, he asserted, the Democrats could not hope to gain enough senators to make up the necessary two-thirds and if the administration declaration was adopted the country might well ask the public regarding what reservations the senators had agreed, but should take the issue out of politics by declaring for an immediate ratification compromise.

In the treaty debate Vice President Marshall was reported to have criticized the administration plank because it gave no information to the public regarding what reservations would fall within the class described as not impairing the covenant's "essential integrity."

Amendment Opposed.
Chairman Glass, Senator McKellar of Tennessee, and other administration chiefs strenuously opposed the Walsh amendment. The administration side charged it would play into the hands of the Republicans, be regarded as a weakening of the Democratic position, and be support for the position of Republican senators led by Senator Lodge. Senator McKellar was declared to have denounced the Walsh amendment as "the doctrine of hell." Another administration member said it would appear as if the Democrats were "coming to terms" with the Republicans. Still another opponent of Senator Walsh's amendment said that its defeat was tantamount to defeating the League reservations and that if the committee adopted the Walsh addition it "ought to put Senator Lodge in nomination."

Senator Pomerene supported the Walsh amendment.

Although Senator Walsh is said to have concurred in article 10 of the league covenant would be destroyed by the Lodge reservations, he a Senator Pomerene told the committee that most of not all other important features of the league plan still would remain.

An assertion by Senator Walsh that without his amendment the treaty would be lost and that with it the treaty's ratification would be assured.

was met by a statement by former Governor McCorkle of West Virginia that he was opposed to action for mere expediency.

"God help the Democratic party," Governor McCorkle exclaimed. "You will lose the respect of the American people."

During the debate, Senator Glass and Mr. Bryan clashed over Mr. Bryan's published criticism of the struggle to take up the plank for order.

Senator Glass objected to Mr. Bryan's reply that he would use it again or any other word he should choose.

Struggle Revived.
The convention resolutions committee reconvened promptly at 11 a. m. today to take up the plank for order where it ended last after midnight. A sharp fight on the "dry" plank offered by William J. Bryan was in immediate prospect when Chairman Glass banged his gavel for order and newspapermen and propagandists were hushed out of the hall to their dreary watch in the corridors.

Mr. Bryan was early in the committee room, stirring about in a score of personal conferences. He said he was prepared to fight to a finish for his dry declaration against the disposition of the sub-committee on platform to keep the party declaration silent on prohibition enforcement. The Nebraska announced he would battle for his plank precisely as he had framed it and that the only "ballast" it contained which he might be willing to sacrifice was an adjective here and there that more reinforced the action for bone dry enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

Printers Are Funny.
The printed version was set up and run off during the morning hours with comparative columns showing differences of opinion on certain questions. In blanks left near the top, presumably for the way reinforced the action, the printers had inserted the likeness of a wide-brimmed, black slouch hat, associated in cartoons with Mr. Bryan's favored type of headgear, while opposite it appeared the "stovepipe" with which cartoonists usually crown a "Tammany" figure or any old-line politician.

No senator holding office was ever elected to the presidency.
